

HAVAN Framework directly relates model inputs to distributional parameters of aggregate observables-related preference